

CONSERVATION EDUCATOR OF THE YEAR

Do you know of a conservation-minded teacher in Stokes County Schools who deserves a reward for encouraging students to care for our natural resources? If so, the 2023 Soil & Water Conservation Education Awards program is something in which that educator should participate.

The individual selected will receive a prestigious plaque and a cash award of $100.00 from the Stokes Soil & Water Conservation District at our annual Awards Banquet in May.

Entry forms can be sent to the Stokes Soil & Water Conservation District by (mail) PO Box 98, Danbury, NC 27016 or (email) jpack@stokesswcd.net .

For more information call the Stokes Soil & Water Conservation District at 336-593-2490.

See entry form below. Entry form deadline - March 10, 2023.

2023
CONSERVATION
EDUCATOR OF THE YEAR

ENTRY FORM

Name of Educator _____

School _____

School address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Grade Level(s) _____

Please list the subject(s) you teach or position you hold at the school: _____

Home address of Educator _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Describe your program for involving students in the betterment of natural resources.

List and describe the areas of study incorporated in your conservation education program.

Describe any assistance received from community organizations or resource specialists to promote your conservation program, i.e. speakers, presentations or any financial sponsorship (grants).

How have your students applied their knowledge of natural resources conservation to individuals, groups, schools or community projects?
